Poetical.

From the Bangor Mechanic.

My country, 'tis for thee,
Dark land of Ayers,
For thee I weep,
The land where slaves have sighed,
Where they have toiled and died,
To save a tyrant's pride,
For this I weep.

My native land, for thee,
Land of the noble tree,
Of Liberty,
For thee, dear land I weep,
A fast in sorrow keep!
The stain is foul and deep
Of Slavery.

From every mountain side,
Upon the ocean's tide,
They call on thee,
Amid thy rocks and rills,
Thy woods and tempest hill,
Hear a voice that thrill—
Let all go free!

Arise! and break the band!
Sound loud throughout this land,
Sweet freedom's song!

Let all that breathe partake!

No grums the song to break,
While slaves the echo wail,
The mourns prolong!

Our fathers, God! To Thee,
Giver of Liberty!

To Thee we pay!

Soon may our land be pure!

The rights of all secure!

And freedom's right endure!

Beneath our sky!

Miscellany.

A LIEUTENANT BEGUILLED BY A SESH-BEAUTY AND MURDERED.

The Leavenworth Bulletin, of the 15th, contains an account of one of the most hideous instances of rebel crime that has marked their diabolical deeds during the war. While the army was near Bentonville, Ark., last spring, a seditious young woman often visited the camp, and made herself very agreeable to the officers. A Lieutenant in the Second Indiana battery, named Masterson, became charmed with her, and she pretended to respond to the passion she had created. Their relations became quite intimate, and one occasion she invited him to visit her at the residence of her uncle.

He unsuspectingly availed himself of the invitation to spend an afternoon in her society. Having been with her about two hours, she went to the window, raised it, and at the same moment twelve guerrillas appeared and fired upon him. He fell dead in the house and was carried off to a mill pond and his body thrown in. Some four days afterwards the body floated to the shore, and was buried by an old man and his son. After the lapse of four weeks the body was found, disinterred, and identified by the comrades of the unfortunate Lieutenant.

DEATH OF REV. DR. LYMAN BEECHER.

Rev. Lyman Beecher, D. D., has gone to his reward, full of years and honor. He was born at New Haven, Conn., in 1775, and celebrated his birthday on the 12th of October last. He graduated at Yale College in 1797, studied theology with President Dwight, and was ordained as pastor at East Hampton, Long Island, in 1798, on a salary of $300. He went to Litchfield, Conn., in 1810, and remained there sixteen years.

During the Unitarian controversy he became noted for his polemical ability, and was called to the Bowdoin street Congregational church, Boston, in 1829, that he might be in the thick of the fight. He accepted the Presidency of Lane Seminary, Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1832, where he remained ten years. Since that time he has resided much of the time in Boston, without fixed employment, but for several years he has resided in Brooklyn, N. Y., a neighbor and parishioner of his most eloquent son, and died there on Sunday morning. He was one of the chief pulpit orators of his time; his controversial and temperance discourses are among the recognized authorities on the subjects which they treat. He was a man of great intellectual and spiritual power in his generation, and of his thirteen children nearly all the survivors are men and women of note, doing honor to the name they perpetuate.

POLICY AND LOYALTY.

Nothing can be more clearly evident to the least reflective mind, than the fact that we have arrived at a very important phase, if not indeed crisis, in our National affairs. They have become complicated by various matters of policy—financial, political and military—and these complications, it is in no wise wonderful to relate, divide our counsels, more or less. Much as this is to be deplored, nevertheless, it is no more deplorable than true. The financial question is one of such huge proportions that it is, in no wise, strange that the wisest and ablest men should differ as to the best method of meeting our financial necessities. But there is no reason that an honest difference of opinion on this all-important subject, should lead to final differences of opinion, or to disloyalty.

The organization and leadership of our vast armies is a subject vital in interest to our existence and welfare as a Government. But there is no reason that honest difference in views upon this subject should lead any man now in arms to lay them ignobly down, or become disloyal in heart to the Government; nor that those not now in arms should refuse to take them up at the call of the Government for further support.

Success in military movements is the best proof to a leadership, and the one upon which there could be no dispute. But in the remaining branch of complication lies the real danger—we mean in the political department of our affairs. War changes almost everything in the affairs of a Nation, and overshadows almost everything in Government by its ravenous presence, except partisanship—political partisanship. This hydra-headed monster will not "down" even at the bidding of "the grim-visaged god of war." There is here real danger. It was at first seen as a cloud "not bigger than a man's hand," but now it has overclouded our National firmament, and threatens to burst in a storm of disloyalty upon our devoted country, to paralyze the Government, and thus to blast all our dearest hopes, by destroying the Union. We do not say this "without book." The Conservative press, falsely so called, which tends much more to disunion and destruction than conservatism in any sense, is full of letters, both from their own army correspondents, and from members of the army themselves. The record is coming to be a long and full one, Soldiers enlisted, armed, equipped and paid by the Government for its defense, write home their dissatisfaction and want of confidence in the Government, while on the other hand the Government seems to be drifting towards a double as to the firmness and dependence of the army. Instead of men armed for the public defense, and with the oath of allegiance worn upon their lips, moving straight forward in the path of duty which they have sworn to perform, we find them halting to discuss the propriety of the policy of the Government.

A neighboring press of our own State recently published such a disclosure from one of our own soldiers. Now these things ought not to be. Differ as we may about the policy of the Government, there is but one course to be pursued by every loyal man. The way is narrow and straight, for every loyal man to walk in.—The language of the Government now is that of the Savior of mankind, when in the midst of his enemies on the earth, "he that is not for me is against me." There is no neutral ground. The man who does not, to his full ability, support the Government, throws his whole weight on the side of rebellion. It is no time now to discuss matters of policy. It is no time now to settle with ourselves whether the Emancipation Proclamation of the President is potent or impotent; judicious or injudicious. It is no time now to determine how it will affect the condition of the Gulf States or any others now or when peace shall once smile upon our land. Time is too precious now to be frittered away in empty discussions upon constitutional niceties. Every man who favors the views of those who would by thought, word, or deed, weaken the arm of the Government either for defense or aggression, is a traitor. He may assume whatever name seems to him to be most euphemistic and most apt to describe the unary, but whenever he utters a word or does a deed that gives "encouragement to the unary," he is a traitor. But for every loyal man, now, there is but one duty. It is plain, clear, pressing and single. It is to let the Proclamation and all other matters of Government policy take care of themselves, and "work out their own salvation" for good or evil. If they be of God—if they be right they will stand, if not they will fall. But the duty of every loyal man now is to assume that the War can do no wrong—that the Government is right for all the purposes of its own defense and the prosperity of the Union—and leave all its errors, if errors there be, to the retributive justice of a re-established Union, and of the world.

A letter from Norfolk of the 19th says that Gen. Foster has abandoned his projected expedition, supposed to be against Wilmington, for the present.

land, we can sit calmly down in the genial light of her blessed presence and both review the past and reform and settle the present.

Local News Items.

Mayo's Notices.—We call attention to two notices issued by Mayor Cranston, and which we are very glad to see, since they are both in regard to matters of deep interest to our citizens. One is in regard to a scamp who has been in the light for the past few weeks of going about our streets in a hideous disguise, whereby women and children and in some instances, even weak, and feeble men have been badly frightened, so as to faint away at the sight, and to be prostrated afterwards upon a sick bed in consequence. Such villainy is deserving of nothing short of lynching, by tars and feathers, and a hemp cord as a finale.

The other notice is in regard to the small pox, and this disorder is in our vicinity, it behoves all interested to be careful, that while they are risking the lives and health of other people in an inconsiderate manner, at the same time, they do not come under the penalties of the law in such cases made and provided.

Prof. Harrington.—We call attention to the exhibition of this renowned Ventilator, Music and Prestidigitator, which are to take place at Academy Hall this evening and to-morrow evening. To those of our citizens who wish for a pleasant and innocent evening's amusement, Prof. Harrington's entertainments offer an unusually attractive opportunity.

The Summertime State was delayed by the storm so that she did not arrive at the wharf until past 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

War Record.

From Richmond.—Special despatches from Washington say that four refugees from Richmond arrived, having left that city on the 12th inst.—On their way from Richmond they saw only rebel pickets this side of Hanover Court House, until they reached the lower Rappahannock. There was much excitement in Richmond, owing to reports of imminent Federal forces in North Carolina. Anderson's rebel division of Jackson's corps passed through Richmond southward, which fact added much to the excitement. The Merrimack was fully tried and proved a complete failure. The city is well fortified at every point, but the fortifications are garrisoned with only a small number of men. They have over 100 guns in position around the city. The main body of the rebel army is said to be about midway between Fredericksburg and Richmond, on the railroad. There is said to be considerable Union sentiment yet in the city.

It is reported, says the N. Y. World, upon respectable authority, that the Commander of the Vanderbilt sent a letter to the Navy Department giving his reasons for believing that the Alabama would be more likely to be on the track of the California steamer than in the neighborhood of the Azores; that he took the responsibility of delaying his departure, with coal on his decks and his fires backed up, in the hope of a reply authorizing this change of route; that no such reply came; that he went to sea; and that four hours after he had gone telegrams from Washington reached New York according to his propositions, which had been suffered to lie unopened in the department for eight and forth hours!

A fatigued despatch of the day says:—

"During Saturday and Sunday nights the rebels were actively engaged in massing their artillery and infantry opposite the forts on the Rappahannock above Falmouth. They are also engaged in constructing and extending new lines of rifle pits and redoubts for artillery up the river. The weather is cool and clear. The roads are very hard and every thing favorable for active operations. The health of the army is good. A large number of sick have been removed to the hospitals at Aquia Creek."

Lodieth.—At the late battle near Mifflinsburg the Federals lost 147 killed, 683 wounded and 2000 prisoners.

The rebel cavalry have left Harper's Shear for Falmouth.

Capt. R. C. Yancey, son of the Hon. Wm. L. Yancey, was one of the slain at the battle of Mifflinsburg.

The Schem (Ala.) Sentinel says that only 2000 of the 10,000 men whom Gen. Price left from Mississippi last April, survive the casualties of battle.

Important Note.—A Norfolk correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune, writing under date of the 19th, says:

"From Newbern I learn to day that Foster has abandoned his projected expedition for the present. What may be in the future I do not authorized to say."

An officer attached to Gen. Burnside's staff, and who left the Rappahannock last Monday, noon, says that the army had that morning commenced crossing the river, some six miles above Falmouth and also at a point below. A large force had succeeded in getting across at the time he left, and not a gun had been fired on either side.

The Jackson (Miss.) Appeal says that General Bragg now estimates his losses at the Murfreesboro battle at 9000, which includes the wounded left behind. The Mobile Advertiser states that Withers' Division of four brigades was led into a "slaughter pen," where the loss was very heavy.

Major Wm. Morris, of the Rebel Signal Corps, under date of Richmond, Dec. 15, writes as follows:

"If we fail to drive the Federal army back to Washington again, we will burn Richmond to the ground, and fall back to the mountains. Our men are raged, ill-fed, outnumbered three to one, berefted and bereaved. I refer you to the history of the time for what they have done. As yet I am ashamed to say that I have not even received a scratch."

A letter from Norfolk of the 19th says that Gen. Foster has abandoned his projected expedition, supposed to be against Wilmington, for the present.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

JANUARY SESSION.

Wednesday, Jan. 20.

Senate.

The Senate assembled at 11 o'clock, and was called to order by His Hon. Wm. C. Cozzens, President.

Mr. Cozzens of Newport, submitted an act in amendment of Title XXIII, Chapter 146, of the Revised Statutes—Of Conveyances of Real Estate, which was read and referred to Committee on the Judiciary.

The Governor presented a copy of General Orders No. 50, concerning the resignation of Quartermaster General Fréze, and the appointment of Quartermaster General Conke, which was read and ordered to be communicated to the House.

A resolution relative to the appropriation of public funds given by Congress for the founding of Agricultural Colleges in the States, which had been made the order of the day, was on motion of Mr. Reynolds, of East Greenwich, taken up.

The question was dictated by Messrs. Thompson, Mason, of Smithfield, Reynolds, of East Greenwich, Potter, of South Kingstown, Clark, of Warren, Hill, of Foster, and Cozzens, of Newport.

On motion of Mr. Potter, of South Kingstown, the question was postponed till tomorrow.

Mr. Cozzens, from the Committee on Finance, to whom had been referred a resolution of inquiry as to the expediency of deriving a revenue from the sale of intoxicating liquors, reported that the committee approved the resolution, and recommended that the committee on judiciary be instructed to report a printed bill for that purpose.

On motion of Mr. Shove, of Pawtucket the Senate re-considered its vote postponing the consideration of the resolution appropriating to Brown University the public lands granted by the United States, and the subject was referred to a special committee of the Senate, consisting of Senators Shove, Thompson, Cozzens, Jencks, and Mason who were instructed to report to-morrow morning.

House.—

The House met pursuant to adjournment, Mr. Speaker Parsons in the Chair.

Mr. Lockwood, of Providence, presented the petition of the Providence Institution for Savings, representing that by the terms of its charter it is authorized to receive and retain the sum of three million dollars, nearly which amount is now in its possession; and praying, therefore, for an amendment to its charter whereby the amount subject to its management may be five million dollars. Referred to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. Holmes, from the Committee on Finance, reported back the petition of John Russell for leave to peddle without a license, and in accordance with their recommendation, the petition was denied.

On motion of Mr. Sweet, of Charlestown, the Senate adjourned till to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Referred to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. Holmes, from the Committee on Finance, reported back the petition of John Russell for leave to peddle without a license, and in accordance with their recommendation, the petition was denied.

Mr. Wilkins Updike, from the Committee on Education, moved that said committee be discharged from the consideration of the Auditor's report respecting the issue of small change notes, and offered a resolution referring the same to a special committee. The motion and resolution were lost.

Mr. Newell, of Smithfield, stated that there are several soldiers' wives at Central Falls, whose husbands have enlisted in Massachusetts regiments, and who have received such aid as the wives of other soldiers in Rhode Island regiments have received, which does not amount to the aid promised them by the State of Massachusetts when they enlisted. He called upon the chairman of the Finance Committee to communicate to the House what information he had on the subject.

Mr. Holmes, in reply, stated that at the request of the House he had investigated the subject, and found that if entertained it would open a great labyrinth of expense, and would eventually cost the State twenty-five or thirty thousand dollars.

Mr. Remington of Barrington offered the following resolution:

Resolved.—That Messrs. —— be a committee to consider and report what if any provision should be made for the families of citizens of Rhode Island who are serving in the volunteer service of the United States Navy.

On motion of Mr. Updike, of Providence, the House adjourned till to-morrow morning.

Pen and Scissors Budget.

In the prisons of Vienna there are at this time seven editors undergoing confinement for various offences of their journals, and in every part of Austria some of the fraternity are imprisoned upon charges of telling the truth. Some of the narratives of the sufferers sound like a page out of Neapolitan history under the old Bourbons.

On Christmas day in Paris, the Government, as usual, acknowledging the importance of keeping the people from dangerous thoughts, opened gratis a public library up the Seine, and the public are invited to use it.

TO HORSE OWNERS.

Dr. Sweet's Infallible Liniment
FOR HORSES.

Is marketed by me, and in all cities of Lancashire, writing from Salford, Birkenhead or Warrington, is equal to any and better. Horses or saddle galls, Scrotum, etc., etc., it will also cure scrofula. Specific and thoroughly may be easily prepared, and cured in the imposture stage, but confirmed cases are beyond the possibility of a root of cure. No case of the kind, however, is now dependent on hopeless but it may be alleviated by this Liniment, and its faithful application will always remove the lameness, and enable the horse to travel with comparative ease.

Every horse owner should have this ready at hand, to fitly meet the first appearance of lameness, will effectually prevent those fatal diseases mentioned, to which all horses are liable, and which render so many otherwise valuable horses nearly worthless.

Consumption, Gravel, Gout, Chronic Rheumatism, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Fever, and Ago, and Bladder Complaints.

WOLPE'S CELEBRATED SCHIEDAM AN-OMATIC SCHNAPPS.

The above medical beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, in Holland, expressly for medicinal use.—

It has been introduced to the first chemists and physicians in this country and Europe, who have certified to its valuable medicinal qualities, and prescribe it in their practice. The proprietor has in his possession more than two thousand letters from patients who have used it in the above named complaints. He has the privilege of referring to the following physicians, who stand at the head of their profession in this city. Put up in pint and quart bottles, and for sale by all druggists and grocers.
